5. SCHEME OF EVALUATION

5.1 For mandatory courses and elective courses of three and more credits, the following scheme of evaluation shall be ordinarily followed.

- i) Mid-semester examination for 25 marks
- ii) Written Project and its oral presentation for 20 and 5 marks respectively.
- iii) End-semester examination for 50 marks.

Provided that this scheme may be altered for elective courses after justifying the same in a faculty meeting.

Provided further that any modification to the above stated scheme of evaluation has to be approved as mentioned and communicated to the students prior to any call for subscription of the course.

5.2 For elective courses of two or less credits, the scheme of evaluation shall be at the discretion of the course instructor. Such scheme of evaluation and division of marks must be communicated to the students during the call for subscription of the course. Once notified such scheme of evaluation cannot be altered.

5.3 For seminar courses, students shall be primarily evaluated based on a seminar paper along with presentations. The concerned faculty may, however, also use other methods such as class participation, reaction papers, or oral presentations on the course material as a means of evaluation.

Provided that alteration of ordinary scheme shall be permitted if the course instructor can explain and defend the same in a faculty meeting.
