17. Multidisciplinary / interdisciplinary
Multi-disciplinarity is poised to be the guiding principle for the future of Indian higher education. Our journey toward this vision began with the establishment of a business school in 2012. Currently, NALSAR offers five full-time programs-five-year B.A.,L.L.B (Hons), one-year LL.M, two-year MBA, five-year B.B.A M.B.A and Ph.D program in Law, Humanities/social sciences and business administration thereby taking the form of multidisciplinary institution. In addition to the full-time programs, the Centre for Distance and Online Education (CDOE) also offers diploma and certificate programs in online and distance mode in interdisciplinary areas for career development of professionals across sectors. The first cohort of three-year BBA students graduated alongside students of Law and MBA programs in 2024. Currently, university is fostering synergies between law and business management, and it aspires to expand into emerging fields such as law and technology, forensic science and cybersecurity, and public policy. Additionally, university aims to establish a Paralegal School to promote legal literacy, provide legal aid and services, and develop community dispute resolution skills. This initiative will address unmet legal needs and contribute to ensuring justice for all.
18. Academic bank of credits (ABC):
The University has been following Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) since AY 2012-13. Further, the University has registered for Academic Bank of Credits (ABC) and for National Academic Depository (NAD) as per the New Education Policy (NEP), 2020. It has registered its student body on the ABC portal as mandated by UGC. The University actively seeks opportunities to collaborate with both national and international institutions, fostering student and faculty exchange programs that provide exposure to diverse academic and research activities. Over the years, the University has established Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) with many international institutions. Recently signed MoU's include - Max Planck Institute for Legal History and Legal Theory (MPIHLHT), Frankfurt, Germany and University of Bern - World Trade Institute, Bern. These MoUs facilitate numerous student exchange programs, as well as the exchange of faculty members and research scholars. Santa Clara University, U.S.A, The Reichman University (Formerly Radzyner School of Law, Israel), University of Illinois College of Law, U.S.A, University of Lucerne, Switzerland, Lewis & Clark Law School, U.S.A., EBS Law School, Germany and The Buchman School of Law, Tel Aviv University, Israel are some of the Foreign universities which have hosted NALSAR students for a semester during the academic year 2023-2024, allowing them to pursue courses that are subsequently translated into equivalent credits at NALSAR.

19.Skill development:

The University places significant emphasis on skill development across its academic programs. Law students are required to undertake essential courses such as Drafting and Conveyancing, Trial and Appellate Advocacy, Legal Methods, Moot Courts, Alternate Dispute Resolution, and courses on tax laws. Additionally, elective clinical courses are offered to further enhance their skills. Practical exposure is facilitated through programs like Legal Aid. For postgraduate law students, a mandatory course on Research Methodology is included in the curriculum. NALSAR prioritizes the development of social and communication skills by encouraging active participation in a variety of curricular and co-curricular activities, including moot courts, ADR competitions, debates, essay writing, sports, and cultural events. Similarly, the Management Department offers several mandatory skill development courses such as Business Research Methods, Introduction to R & Python, Introduction to Excel, and Introduction to Algorithms. To supplement these, zero-credit courses like Gamification, Semiotics & Branding, Taxation, and Venture Capital are provided, enhancing students' expertise. Additionally, the department includes practical simulation programs in courses like Product Management, offering hands-on learning experiences that bridge theory and practice. Lectures and panel discussions are organized by both the streams such as the Public Policy Group, Marketing Club, Finance Club, Nyaya Forum, Constitutional Law Society, Technology Law Forum, Savitribhai Phule Intersectional Studies Forum to name a few. On average, 50 invited talks from the Industry experts are hosted every academic year. To name the few activities / courses during the year 2023-2024 are- Workshop on "Skills for Practicing Law" on May 6, 2023 by Dr. Margaret Phillip, Director of Para Legal

This talk was directed at the students in the elective course on 'International Space Law and the Cosmic Code'. Lecture series on 'Careers in Finance', organized by nFINity Club between July - Nov, 2023.

20.Appropriate integration of Indian Knowledge system (teaching in Indian Language, culture, using online course)

The professional programs that the University offers are deeply invested in delivering education that is relevant to the context of South Asia in general, and the Indian polity in particular. Several specialized elective and seminar courses are offered by in-house as well as visiting faculty to showcase the significance of Indian heritage and culture, especially by encouraging students to produce research papers based on the same. Due weightage is given to sources produced in the respective Indian languages and the students are encouraged to work with translated texts and their interpretations. To give specific examples, the following courses were on offer during 2023 - 2024: 'Development thought and practice in India', 'Why Gandhi Still Matters?', 'Social Movements', 'Just Looking: Visual Culture in Contemporary India', 'Liberalism and its Challenges', 'Custom in India: Law, Regulation and Compliance' and 'Gender and Sexuality Studies in India'. On the directions of the Government of India, NALSAR University of Law in collaboration with Department of Law, Ministry of Law & Justice, Government of India offered an Online Course on Indian Constitution in English and is developing it in Hindi language. NALSAR is also developing a basic course on the 'Indian Constitution in Telugu', to ensure the law is understandable by laypersons and plans offer shortly in online mode.

21.Focus on Outcome based education (OBE):Focus on Outcome based education (OBE):

The programs across both streams of the University are thoughtfully designed to promote outcome-based education. Course outlines, developed by instructors, explicitly state the objectives and expected outcomes, ensuring a clear mapping of Program Outcomes (PO) to Course Outcomes (CO). This framework aligns with the guidelines of NEP 2020, enabling the tracking of student progress at various stages. The law programs not only equip students with comprehensive legal knowledge but also emphasize addressing social issues. The course structure is crafted to provide practical exposure through internships at lawyers' offices, the Supreme Court, law firms, international organizations, and national institutions. Similarly, management students are required to complete summer internships at start-ups, mid-sized companies, and large corporations across different regions. These internships provide invaluable hands-on experience, enhance conceptual understanding, and often lead to employment opportunities or research fellowships.

22.Distance education/online education:

The Centre for Distance & Online Education (CDOE) at NALSAR is offering five programs at Master's Level and 16 Advanced Diploma Programs for the professionals and career development of the learners in online distance learning mode. During the year 2023-2024, 1978 students enrolled in the programmes. The programs at CDOE are carefully curated and are offered in emerging areas with contemporary knowledge and skills. For example, the one-year Advanced Diploma in Criminal Law & Forensic Science imparts the candidates with the latest technological developments in this field. To facilitate this University collaborated with Truth Labs. CDOE offers two-year M.A programs in Aviation Law & Air Transport Management; Maritime Laws; Criminal Law & Forensic Science; International Taxation and Corporate Laws. CDOE also offers advanced diploma programs in patents law; media laws; cyber laws; international humanitarian law; animal protection laws; alternative dispute resolution; family dispute resolution; drafting, negotiation & enforcement of contracts; aviation law & air transport management; maritime laws; criminal law & forensic science; financial services & legislations; GIS & remote sensing laws; corporate taxation; cyber security & data protection and Corporate Laws. The contact classes are conducted in a blended mode with the help of digital classrooms. The class rooms are equipped with smart boards, LEDs, high speed internet facility and other equipment for conducting interactive hybrid classes. Additionally, video recordings of the classes are made available to the candidates. The contact classes are conducted in a blended mode with the help of digital classrooms. The class rooms are equipped with smart boards, LEDs, high speed internet facility and other equipment for conducting interactive hybrid classes. Additionally, video recordings of the classes are made available to the candidates. The candidates are provided with web-based resources for accessing the reading materials, video recordings of the classes and other information. Further, all the examination records are integrated with E-Student Service (ESS), a web based online portal of the University. Remote access to the e-resources of the library is provided to the candidates for their research and writing. The University encourages research and continuous evaluation even in the Open and Distance Learning Programmes. Hence, the submission of research projects, case study analysis and other forms of assignments is part of the curriculum and evaluation process.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Teachers at NALSAR are constantly preparing numerous relevant debatable topics that can be taken up for discussion during class hours. Sessions by teachers across the departments are conducted in such a way that analytical and lateral thinking skills are honed. Interdisciplinary course structure has also aided in developing a multi-pronged approach to problem solving.

Examinations at Law department have progressed towards a model of problem solving through open book examinations where students prepare their responses to hypothetical situations than mere memorizing of statutory provisions and judicial precedents. Students are required to present their projects before faculty members and other students for ignited discussions. In elective and seminar courses, evaluation also includes group discussions, response papers and group assignments, which require student to work collaboratively. The Department of Management Studies has been using case studies, simulations and projects for evaluation in courses like digital marketing, product management, design thinking etc. University's tutorial system focuses on peer learning, where senior students tutor junior students.

2.3.2 - Teachers use ICT-enabled tools for effective teaching and learning process, including online e-resources

All classrooms and program halls of the University are fully equipped with the latest digital technologies. All the classrooms include video conferencing facilities, digital screens, highly competent sound systems and adaptability for hybrid classes.

Digitization of classrooms has helped faculty in inviting the best of guest faculty, industry practitioners and other key speakers to render lectures on relevant topics. Digitization of classrooms helped the University in conducting classes in hybrid mode for both regular and distance programs. Digitization of classrooms also helped the students with disabilities to join classes online.

The University has also subscribed for multiple e-resources and e-books for both the Departments that are often accessed by students, research scholars and faculty members for assignment and research purposes. The library of the University also provides remote access to students, research scholars and faculty members to provide seamless access to various databases and electronic journals. The Department of Management Studies also has access to Harvard Business Publishing, which gives the faculty and students to access the best of articles and case studies. Further, the Department of Management Studies also has a subscription with CESIM, that provides simulations for its students. These simulations provide a practical application of theoretical concepts that they learn in classrooms.

2.4.4 - Measures / Policies / Incentive by the institution for faculty retention by the institution for faculty retention

The University has been recruiting faculty members to permanent and contractual positions as per the regulations of UGC. Further, the University also encourages younger faculty members by providing non-teaching semesters on a case-by-case basis. The course allocation to younger faculty members is also done in such a way that younger faculty members can offer elective or semester courses that are related to their research interests. Further, faculty members interested in pursuing research projects or academic assignments are also given leave on a case-by-case basis.

The University incentivizes faculty members for publishing in reputed Scopus journals. Further, the University also provides periodic funding for procurement of books. The University also reimburses faculty members for participating in national and international conferences.

The University also provides individual research grants based on proposals submitted to the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor.

2.5.3 - IT integration and reforms in the examination procedures and processes (continuous internal assessment and end-semester assessment) have brought in considerable improvement in examination management system of the institution

NALSAR has been following continuous evaluation system since the very beginning for its mandatory and elective courses across both the Departments. The internal assessment methods include different kinds of assignments such as book reviews, term papers, structured interviews, opinion pieces, project report submissions etc. Turnitin is used extensively by the Examination cell of both the Departments of the University. Further, the University developed

ESS examination system portal, which is used for the conduct of examinations and processing of results. The scores of all the candidates across the Departments are recorded and are published to the students at the end of each term/semester.

The ESS system is also used for subscription of elective, seminar and clinic courses. The IT team of the University also developed a learning system called 'NALSAR Forums' which hosts video recordings, assigned readings and examination related assignments. This learning system has helped in smooth conduct of examinations in the recent years.

2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - The institution has stated learning outcomes (generic and programme specific)/graduate attributes which are integrated into the assessment process and widely publicized through the website and other documents

The objective of NALSAR University of Law is to equip its graduates with the requisite capabilities to be absorbed at public institutions, private institutions and civil society institutions. Many of the law graduates of NALSAR are serving the society as judicial officers and civil servants. Further, many other law graduates are working in various courts as advocates and are contributing to the access to justice of the society at large. Many law graduates of the University have pursued higher studies at institutions of national and international repute.

The management graduates of NALSAR have started occupying critical positions in the corporate and a few graduates have started their own enterprises. The learning outcomes of the fulltime programs of the University are available on the University websites.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution during the year

NALSAR offers various professional courses, research degrees, and distance learning programs, each with distinct outcomes. The primary goal of the full-time programs is to prepare graduates to demonstrate professional excellence, social sensitivity, and ethics. These programs emphasize a combination of theoretical understanding and practical application to real-world problems. To achieve this, the university provides a broad range of mandatory and elective courses for students across both departments.

For research programs, the university aims to equip scholars with the skills necessary to produce original research, furthering knowledge in their respective fields. There is a special emphasis on interdisciplinary research, supported by a very encouraging environment.

Distance education programs are designed for working professionals, offering specialized knowledge through various degree and diploma courses. The university conducts periodic feedback processes to evaluate course outcomes across all its programs. Feedback collected from students is shared with the relevant authorities for necessary actions. Additionally, the university regularly reviews course outcomes and program-specific outcomes through faculty meetings and course development sessions with experts from various fields.

RESEARCH, INNOVATIONS AND EXTENSION

3.1 - Promotion of Research and Facilities

3.1.1 - The institution's research facilities are frequently updated and there is a well-defined policy for promotion of research which is uploaded on the institutional website and implemented

NALSAR's research policy includes the doctoral and post-doctoral programs, specialized research centers, and incentives to enhance research capabilities among faculty and the wider academic community. More details can be found on the University's website.

Annually, the University admits doctoral program participants in Law, Social Science, and Management. NALSAR provides a nurturing environment for expanding knowledge and offers dedicated space through various centers to support diverse research interests. These centers are encouraged to seek external and internal funding through research and consulting projects, with each center receiving a ₹2,00,000 budget to initiate research activities.

To further promote faculty research, the University has a faculty incentive scheme. The "Flying Research Kites" and the "Annual Survey of State Legislation in India" are two capacity-building and knowledge dissemination activities available on the university's website.

Additionally, the university has a Research Development Cell that regularly meets to discuss and monitor research progress and possible research projects that University can try for.

INFRASTRUCTURE AND LEARNING RESOURCES

4.1 - Physical Facilities

4.1.1 - The institution has adequate facilities for teaching - learning. viz., classrooms, laboratories, computing equipment, etc.

The University has two academic blocks covering 34,398 sq. ft. with 18 classrooms that can seat between 30 and 80 students. These classrooms are used for lectures, tutorials, and discussions. They are equipped with modern facilities like digital podiums, LED screens, AI-powered cameras, and ceiling microphones, enabling hybrid teaching. Renovated classrooms and conference halls now allow online participation and support students with disabilities, including those who need mental health-related accommodations.

The library spans 54,323 sq. ft. and offers ample reading spaces, private carrels, and resources for students with visual and hearing impairments, such as braille printers, assistive software, and magnifiers. With access to digital resources and institutional memberships, it supports research and learning.

The Administrative Block, spread over 60,000 sq. ft., houses key offices like the Vice-Chancellor's, Registrar's, and Examination Departments, ensuring smooth administration for students and staff.

The Legal Aid Centre, supervised by Prof. Mallikarjun Gade, involves students in providing free legal services to underprivileged communities. It partners with legal aid authorities, NGOs, and lawyers, giving students hands-on experience.

The University also has indoor and outdoor sports facilities, gyms, and separate, safe housing for male and female students.

4.1.2 - The institution has adequate facilities for cultural activities, yoga, games (indoor, outdoor) and sports. (gymnasium, yoga centre, auditorium, etc.)

The University offers a variety of facilities for cultural activities, yoga, and sports, fostering holistic development among students. A state-of-the-art auditorium, spanning 35,000 square feet and seating 800 people, serves as the center for cultural and extracurricular events. For outdoor sports, the University provides an Olympic-standard stadium with artificial turf (8,450 sq. ft.) and a large playground (87,156 sq. ft.) equipped with recreational instruments like swings and slides.

Indoor facilities include a 14,397 sq. ft. sports complex with tennis and basketball courts, badminton courts within the auditorium, and dedicated courts for basketball and table tennis in the hostels. Students also have access to separate gyms within the hostels, while faculty benefit from their own gym facility. Traditional sports are encouraged with a Kabaddi court near the dining hall and a volleyball court next to the stadium.

The University also promotes wellness through its Yoga Centre, located in the Administrative Block. This 33 ft. x 65 ft. space accommodates 100 participants and conducts regular yoga and meditation sessions.

Cultural activities are supported by a multipurpose area with a 200-person seating capacity, hosting regional festivals, annual events, and community-building activities. These diverse facilities ensure a well-rounded and vibrant campus life.

4.1.3 - Availability of general campus facilities and overall ambience

The University provides a comprehensive range of facilities to support academic, residential, recreational, and cultural needs. The academic blocks host lectures, conferences, and discussions, while the library, enriched with both offline and online resources, includes the NALSAR Accessibility Lab for inclusive learning. Recreational facilities promote sports and cultural engagement, complementing holistic student development.

The University's residential infrastructure includes gender-specific and gender-neutral hostels accommodating 1,472 students, with single-room options for privacy. The dining hall, expanded to 27,979 sq. ft., caters inclusively, offering regional delicacies and festive menus while ensuring hygiene and fire safety.

Healthcare needs are addressed by a 24/7 Health Centre, equipped with modern medical and diagnostic tools, staffed by doctors, specialists, and nurses, and supported by preventive health programs such as vaccination and blood donation camps. Faculty and staff benefit from residential quarters, categorized into different units, ensuring comfortable living on campus.

Additional facilities include a state-of-the-art auditorium for events, a well-equipped Convention Centre, and numerous indoor and outdoor sports complexes. Legal awareness is promoted through the Nyaya Legal Aid Centre, enhancing social engagement. Cafeterias, vending machines, beauty parlors, and security services cater to day-to-day needs. Environmental sustainability is prioritized with rainwater harvesting, solar energy, and waste management systems, ensuring a holistic campus experience.

4.3.2 - Institution has an IT policy, makes appropriate budgetary provision and updates its IT facilities including Wi-Fi facility

The NALSAR Data Privacy and CCTV policies address the management, security, and protection of personal data, particularly in relation to the NALSAR Forums App and email services. The Data Privacy Policy details data collection practices, permissions, and strong security measures, such as encrypted passwords and SSL certificates. It ensures compliance with privacy standards and regulates third-party plugins' data handling. The Email Policy mandates academic use and promotes security through practices like two-factor authentication. Additionally, the CCTV Policy regulates campus surveillance, with cameras monitoring only the perimeter to comply with legal standards while respecting privacy.

Implementation of these policies includes guidelines for data security and adherence to best practices, supported by tools like Jetpack and WordFence. Users must follow procedures for registering and securing their accounts.

In the fiscal year 2023-24, NALSAR allocated a budget for IT equipment such as desktops, printers, CCTV systems, and other infrastructure, totaling several lakh rupees. While some purchases are complete, others are in progress. The expansion plan for 2024-25 involves upgrading classrooms to digital spaces, expanding CCTV coverage, and enhancing network infrastructure, with an estimated budget of ₹38.1 million. This plan includes desktop purchases, digital signage, and firewall renewals.

The University has established comprehensive systems for maintaining its physical, academic, and support facilities. The Engineering Department handles routine maintenance and repairs, ensuring facilities remain functional and adhere to safety and environmental regulations, overseen by the Registrar. A standardized permission system allows staff and students to access facilities like classrooms and the Convention Centre, ensuring efficient usage and preventing double bookings.

Orientation programs organized by the Student Bar Council's Academic Committee introduce incoming students to campus facilities, helping them navigate available resources. The University Library offers enhanced services, including an e-library website with organized access to open resources and a cloud-based OPAC for quicker, reliable searches. The library also provides an Accessibility Lab and discussion rooms, catering to diverse student needs.

Mental health support is provided through the Counseling Center, which offers free services and continuous outreach, particularly before exams. The Health Centre operates throughout the day, with staff available on different shifts to ensure students receive medical care whenever needed.

Collaborative efforts between departments and committees support the effective management of all campus facilities. Regular meetings ensure smooth coordination, allowing the University to address facility-related issues promptly and maintain a conducive environment for students and staff.

5.3.2 - Presence of Student Council and its activities for institutional development and student welfare

The Student Bar Council (SBC) at the University, composed of elected members, drives various initiatives for academic enhancement and student welfare. The 2023 elections ushered in eleven committees, with office bearers assuming duties on August 11, 2023. Notable achievements include the SBC's Academic Committee's efforts to improve library resources, extend timings, and introduce policies like project exemptions and menstrual leave. The SBC also produced the 1st Bi-Annual Academic Report, prepared policies, facilitated campus orientations, and established internal sub-committees to address specific issues. These endeavors underscore the SBC's dedication to advancing academic excellence and supporting student welfare at the University.

5.4 - Alumni Engagement

5.4.1 - The Alumni Association/Chapters (registered and functional) contributes significantly to the development of the institution through financial and other support services during the year

The NALSAR Alumni Association, established in 2011 under the Andhra Pradesh Societies Registration Act, significantly contributes to the University's academic, professional, and community development. It provides a platform to connect alumni with their alma mater while fostering knowledge-sharing and networking.

Alumni actively enhance the University's academic offerings by leading elective and certificate courses, enriching the Choice-Based Credit System (CBCS). Notable contributions include expertise shared by accomplished alumni such as Prajwal Raj Gyawali in Banking & Finance Law, Srishti Khare in Commercial Litigation, and Harsh Mahaseth in Asian Regional Organizations. These contributions provide students with practical insights and exposure to advanced topics.

Engagement through events like "NOSTOS 2023" and "Footprints'24" fosters community building and reconnects alumni with peers, faculty, and current students. Activities include campus tours, cultural programs, interactive sessions, and gala dinners, promoting collaboration and nostalgia. Additionally, the alumni portal, with over 1,691 registered members, facilitates ongoing professional networking and engagement.

NALSAR alumni excel across sectors like law, finance, technology, and education, with representation in organizations such as Byju's, ICICI, Axis Bank, and TCS. Their professional achievements and active involvement reflect the University's strong foundation, contributing to its reputation and holistic development of its community.

GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - The institution has a clearly stated vision and mission which are reflected in its academic and administrative governance

NALSAR University of Law reflects its clearly stated vision and mission in all aspects of academic and administrative governance. Founded in 1998, its vision emphasizes constitutionalism, the rule of law, and social justice, particularly for marginalized communities. This commitment permeates the University's academic structure, outreach initiatives, and operational strategies.

Academically, NALSAR integrates law with social sciences, management, and humanities, creating a dynamic and research-driven curriculum. Doctoral programs amplify non-dominant perspectives, addressing issues of caste, disability, and gender. Clinical programs focusing on prison rights, animal rights, and language justice further embed social justice principles.

Inclusivity is a cornerstone of the University's policies, highlighted by a ₹1 crore scholarship fund and provision of essential resources like laptops. Social justice obligations are integrated into MBA curricula and graduate placement efforts, aligning with the institution's mission of fostering equality.

Administrative governance emphasizes outreach and community engagement through seminars, workshops, and legal literacy programs. The Department of Management Studies aligns closely with NALSAR's mission, nurturing responsible leaders while fostering global and local impact.

By intertwining its vision and mission with academic excellence, inclusivity, and societal engagement, NALSAR remains a beacon of ethical legal education and a driver of progressive social change.

6.1.2 - Effective leadership is reflected in various Institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management etc.

NALSAR University of Law demonstrates effective leadership through decentralised and participative management, involving faculty and student committees in decision-making processes. While committees operate autonomously, major policy changes require consensus through stakeholder consultation. For example, Academic Regulations modifications begin with the Academic Committee drafting proposals, followed by faculty and student feedback collection through open houses. This consultative approach extends to other operational aspects like resource procurement and tender management. The Vice Chancellor maintains regular communication with faculty and students, fostering transparency and feedback exchange. This inclusive model empowers students, enhances decision-making, and cultivates trust within the university community. Ultimately, NALSAR's participatory governance promotes transparency, inclusivity, and stakeholder engagement, reflecting effective leadership principles.

6.2 - Strategy Development and Deployment

6.2.1 - The institutional Strategic plan is effectively deployed

One successfully implemented activity based on the strategic plan at NALSAR University of Law is the Prison Legal Aid Clinic, a program focused on providing legal support to under-trial prisoners and convicts at the Central Jail in Hyderabad. The initiative includes regular visits to the prison, where students and faculty interact with inmates to identify individuals in need of legal assistance. During the last semester (June-October 2023), the team conducted six visits, engaging with 173 under-trial prisoners and 77 convicts. Through these interactions, 44 under-trials were provided with legal aid, and 13 convicts received copies of their judgments. Furthermore, 26 convicts sought legal assistance to file appeals, with Advocate Vishal taking up seven under-trial cases and four convict cases.

In addition to the in-jail visits, the program facilitated valuable conversations with judicial authorities, such as Justice Kishan Kaul and Principal District and Sessions Judge S. Sasidhar Reddy, to raise awareness about challenges prisoners face. Moreover, students volunteered with the District Legal Services Authority to identify under-trial prisoners who were eligible for bail. Their efforts led to the successful release of 110 prisoners. Under the leadership of Dr. Murali Karnam, the clinic has made significant strides in addressing legal aid access, systemic issues, and promoting justice for prisoners.

6.2.2 - The functioning of the institutional bodies is effective and efficient as visible from policies, administrative setup, appointment and service rules, procedures, etc.

The University's institutional bodies demonstrate effective and efficient functioning through regular policies, structured governance, and adherence to service norms. Key governing entities, including the General Council, Executive Council, Academic Council, Finance Committee, and Building Committee, convene consistently, with meetings held as scheduled. These efforts ensure thorough deliberation and governance of critical administrative and academic matters. Examples include the Executive and Finance Committee meetings on August 19, 2023, and March 23, 2024, and the General Council's session on April 27, 2024.

Faculty appointments and promotions adhere strictly to UGC regulations, with merit-based processes ensuring transparency. Service regulations adopted in January 2014 have been regularly updated to meet changing requirements.

Quality assurance mechanisms, like IQAC and IT Committees, meet periodically to maintain institutional excellence. Faculty meetings and open house sessions with students ensure collaboration, inclusivity, and transparency. The University's commitment to effective administration and academic growth reflects its dedication to providing a well-organized and accountable educational environment.

6.3 - Faculty Empowerment Strategies

6.3.1 - The institution has a performance appraisal system, promotional avenues and effective welfare measures for teaching and non-teaching staff

The institution has a robust system for performance appraisals, promotions, and welfare measures, demonstrating its commitment to employee development and well-being. Annual performance appraisals are conducted for teaching and non-teaching staff, fostering accountability and growth. Feedback is documented in personal files, and student feedback at the end of each semester enhances teaching quality. Promotional opportunities are provided under the Career Advancement Scheme (CAS), adhering to UGC guidelines.

Welfare measures include book grant reimbursements, academic incentives, and funding for conferences. Faculty members benefited from book grants for Rs. 19993, while others received grants for research publications to a total amount of Rs. 1550000. Travel and conference expenses were reimbursed to a total of Rs. 107509.

Additionally, the institution offers study leave, sabbaticals, enhanced medical reimbursements of up to Rs. 30,000, and personal loan facilities at nominal interest rates. These initiatives promote academic excellence, professional growth, and employee satisfaction, fostering a supportive and thriving institutional environment.

6.4 - Financial Management and Resource Mobilization

6.4.1 - Institutional strategies for mobilisation of funds and the optimal utilisation of resources

The University implements a comprehensive resource mobilization strategy to ensure financial sustainability and optimal utilization of resources, balancing student fees, governmental grants, endowments, and project funding.

The institution primarily relies on student fees as the main income source for daily operational expenses and maintenance activities. The State Government of Telangana also plays a pivotal role, providing substantial financial aid to support infrastructure development (₹15 crores) and maintenance costs (₹9.3 crores).

Endowments further supplement these sources, financing initiatives like the establishment of gold medals and sponsorships for moot court events. To expand revenue streams and enhance institutional capabilities, the University continues to seek increased government grants and CSR support.

6.5 - Internal Quality Assurance System

6.5.1 - Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) has contributed significantly for institutionalizing the quality assurance strategies and processes by constantly reviewing the teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals

The Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) at NALSAR University of Law has played a pivotal role in institutionalizing quality assurance strategies and processes by continuously reviewing and enhancing various aspects of academic operations. During the academic year 2023-2024, IQAC contributed significantly in streamlining the academic requirements for newly introduced programs. This included collaborating with IICA, New Delhi, for the LLM in International Business Laws (IBL), and overseeing the introduction of programs through the Directorate of Distance Education, such as M.A. in Corporate Laws and Advanced Diplomas in Corporate Laws and Labour Laws & Employee Management.

Further efforts were made to position NALSAR as a Faculty Development Centre under the Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching (PMMNMTT) scheme, fostering advancement in Social Science, Law, and Management disciplines. IQAC also restructured the data collection format for tracking faculty contributions, such as research output, faculty development programs, and other academic activities. Additionally, the adoption of a digital attendance system and facilitation of in-camera interactions between the Vice-Chancellor and faculty to address student feedback further exemplified IQAC's proactive approach.

Looking ahead, IQAC has outlined plans for sustained faculty development, including the renewal of the ARPIT program, developing bilingual courses including Telugu, and reviewing clinical programs, among other strategies aimed at enhancing institutional quality and responsiveness to changing academic needs.

6.5.3 - Incremental improvements made for the preceding during the year with regard to quality (in case of first cycle) Post accreditation quality initiatives(second and subsequent cycles)

In response to the NAAC team's observations and recommendations, NALSAR University of Law has implemented several quality enhancement initiatives across both academic and administrative domains during the 2023-2024 academic year.

To address the issue of faculty strength, five senior professors were recruited, including Prof. P. Srinivas Subba Rao, and Dr. Rosmy Joan contributing to strengthening the academic resources. Additionally, promotions under the Career Advancement Scheme were granted to faculty members such as Dr. Aruna B Venkat and Dr. T. Raghavender Rao. These initiatives have helped in retaining and enhancing the quality of faculty.

In terms of addressing administrative needs, the University engaged several new officers and staff members. The appointment of officers on a contractual basis, such as an Accounts Officer and Medical Officers, addressed the growing administrative demands. The recruitment of non-teaching staff, including Junior Assistants and Record Assistants, also helped streamline the operational processes.

To enhance transportation, the University requested additional bus services from the Telangana Government, and discussions are ongoing for further support. Furthermore, the University is working on the construction of staff quarters with the funds provided for campus development and is exploring the acquisition of land in the city to facilitate future campus expansion.

Additionally, the University is working on enhancing community outreach through its existing research centers.

INSTITUTIONAL VALUES AND BEST PRACTICES

7.1 - Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities

7.1.1 - Measures initiated by the Institution for the promotion of gender equity during the year

NALSAR has always believed in the practice of constitutional principles such as equality, non-discrimination and fairness both in all spheres of its activities. Incoming students are thoroughly oriented by sensitization workshops administered by faculty members on issues such as the prevention of sexual harassment of woman, sensitivity towards historically marginalized sections of the society and addressing the needs of specially abled people. In addition to the introductory sessions, specialized seminars and workshops are also regularly held to build holistic awareness of both academic and social issues. The University would also like to specially acknowledge the activities of student run groups like 'Savitribhai Phule Intersectional Study Circle' and 'NALSAR Minorities Forum', which have made visible progress in this direction. Further, the University also provides scholarships to the historically disadvantaged communities and economically is advantaged students through its Scholarships committee by granting fee waivers and facilitating external scholarships. The Indian constitution has opted for substantive equality, a commitment which recognizes the reality of difference and the need to customize general norms for the specific needs of groups and individuals. NALSAR also exercises the policy of reasonable accommodation is extended to all students and not just to students with disabilities.

7.1.3 - Describe the facilities in the Institution for the management of the following types of degradable and non-degradable waste (within 100 - 200 words)
NALSAR has been implementing a comprehensive waste management system. The system is based on principles of reduce, reuse and recycle. Food waste from the student mess is collected and sent to a pig farm in the nearby village of Shamirpet. Organic waste is then composted, and inorganic waste is sent for recycling. The waste water from University is stored in underground storage tank of 100,000 litres capacity. The collected water is then pumped to sewage treatment plant (STP) that uses moving bed biofilm reactor (MBBR) technology. The water that is treated is then pumped to a different storage tank and is finally sent for watering the plantations and gardens on campus. The residual sludge generated in the process is dried and disposed in an environmentally safe manner. The bio-medical waste generated is segregated into four categories: yellow, red, white and blue. Each category is disposed of in different way. For effective handling of e-waste generated, NALSAR has signed an MoU with M/s Z Enviro Industries Pvt Ltd. an authorized dismantler/recycler of the State Pollution Control Board (SPCB). E-waste that is generated is collected and sent to M/s Z Enviro Industries Pvt Ltd. at regular intervals for proper disposal and recycling.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

FIRST BEST PRACTICE

1. Title of the Practice: Concern for other species

2. Objectives of the Practice:

The next frontier of social justice is the rights of nature and animal rights. As the world grapples with global conflicts and anthropogenic crises, NALSAR acknowledges the urgent need to expand the circle of justice to include all species we share our campus and planet with. Recognizing all living beings as stakeholders in legal and policy discourse is no longer merely an ethical or moral aspiration—it is what will make a sustainable and just future possible.

SECOND BEST PRACTICE

1. Title of the Practice - NALSAR Faculty Incentive Scheme

1. Objectives of the Practice:

The objective of the incentive scheme is to encourage faculty members to pursue research activities and publish their research work in quality journals.

1. The Context:

To facilitate a thriving research culture, NALSAR introduced a faculty incentive scheme in the year 2018.

1. The Practice:

NALSAR has been incentivizing quality research publications of faculty members since 2018. As per the scheme, faculty members whose work is published in Scopus indexed journals and books published by leading international publishers can claim monetary incentives.

7.3 - Institutional Distinctiveness

7.3.1 - Portray the performance of the Institution in one area distinctive to its priority and thrust within 200 words

Centre for Disability Studies, NALSAR has significantly contributed to the effectiveness of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act 2016 and the first Country Report on Disability to the United Nations. More recently, the Centre led by Prof Amita Dhanda prepared a report on the status of the Right to Accessibility in India for the Supreme Court of India. The Report entitled "Finding Sizes for All" was accepted by the Court and has resulted in the Supreme Court asking the Government of India to redraft the Access Rules in accordance with the Act in order to clearly lay down the minimum mandatory rules of accessibility which must be followed in the built environment, transport, ICT, assistive devices, products and services. CDS is working along with the Department of Disability, Government, disabled persons and professionals to create the new mandatory rules.

Additionally, the Centre is committed to raising awareness through regular sensitisation programmes and conferences addressing crucial legal issues related to disability. These initiatives foster a collaborative environment, promoting dialogue and understanding among stakeholders, while ensuring that the voices of disabled persons remain at the forefront of all discussions.
