Dear all,

Dear all,

Here's why you should attend tomorrow's talk:

Firstly, arbitration is legitimately a cool (read glorious and glamorous) career option, and this is likely going to be your first glimpse of it!

Secondly, there isn't a more charismatic individual than Mr. Abhinav Bhushan to convince you of why arbitration is a cool career option. He's introduced legions of Indian students—including several of your seniors—to the magical world that is arbitration, and I can promise you that he's tried, tested, and terrific!

Thirdly, are you considering a career in litigation / corporate law / research / academia / finance / all of the above? If your answer is 'yes', attend, because arbitration is a great route into and supplement to these areas. If your answer is 'maybe', attend, because this is going to give you great perspective. If your answer is 'no', attend anyway, because this talk might just make you reconsider your position.

Fourthly, the Arbitration Moots. Many an arbitration 'mootie' (yes, that's what they call themselves) will tell you about how said arbitration moot changed their life (see here, for instance). Mr. Abhinav Bhushan is heavily involved with the arbitration moots, and attending could potentially be your first step in deciding whether you want to join the 'mootie' family.

Contact me (or the next pro-arbitration senior) if you're looking for more reasons to attend.

Best Regards,
Rishabh Raheja

Dear ICC,

Please be careful with the claims made in your emails. As a policy, tutorials can not be rescheduled for the talks without Hota Sir and Dhanda Ma'am's permission. I understand that attendance for such an important talk is really important for the Committee and employment prospects in general, an ideal solution would have been to intimate the TAs first at least once beforehand, and not to appropriate their voice and send a mail half an hour before the Tutorials. Personally, not only would I have rescheduled, I would be attending it myself as well. But today, Hota Sir was coming to my class for evaluation and he got really disgruntled with the whole fiasco. Kindly please let us know in advance before any such unilateral communication to the entire student body is made.

Dear all,

I apologise sincerely for the inappropriate and injudicious usage of words in the email sent by me, on behalf of the ICC. The intention behind the email was to note that some of the tutorials (not all) had been graciously rescheduled by the tutors who we had been able to contact before the talk, the conductance of which was confirmed only yesterday. We had been operating under an unavoidable time constraint; however, I recognise that this is no excuse and we will be more careful in the future.

Dear all,

From my limited experience of almost 5 years in this university, I have observed that students here (including myself) lack guidance with regards to different career avenues available to us.

First, it not uncommon for students to religiously follow the limited curriculum in the hope that it will improve their career prospects. While performing well academically does serve to improve one's job prospects (especially in certain corporate law firms), it does little to improve one's prospects in niche practice areas, where technical competence in such subjects (in my view) is a more pressing criterion to enter such practice areas.

Second, the general course structure and curriculum at NALSAR is not comprehensive enough to expose students to different practice areas and niche subject matters. Third, where firms would previously recruit prospective candidates in their fifth year, presumably after giving them some time to decide their subject matter preferences, firms have now begun to recruit students in as early as the 3rd and 4th years, resulting in students not having enough time to decide their career path before committing themselves to a job.

The above highlight the most pressing reasons as to why some of us founded the Centre for Corporate and Tax Law. One of the aims of the Centre is to expose students to subjects and practice areas within commercial law which they would not otherwise be ordinarily exposed to (for instance, subjects other than the usual trio of General Corp, Private Equity and Mergers and Acquisitions – not that these 3 subjects are not important). For this reason, we have, within a span of two semesters organized courses and talks on topics as diverse as Corporate Governance, International Taxation, White Collar Crime and Director's Duties. We would also be organizing a course on Contract Drafting, Damages and Specific Relief Act at the end of this month.

However, the purpose of this mail is not to talk about what the Centre has achieved (since there is still much to be done), but to apprise you guys of a new and upcoming practice area known as 'Impact Investing'.

Impact investing basically refers to employing funds and making investments in enterprises which attempt to solve socio-economic challenges using private capital, and the market economy. Impact investing allows entrepreneurs to build lasting enterprises that solve the unfulfilled social demands of the population, such as primary education, health, housing and so on. As an NDA article notes:

India is considered a breeding ground for (social) impact investing due to the enormous size of its demography and the unfulfilled demands for social and economic services. The reduced public investment in priority sectors like primary education, health, housing, water and sanitation etc. has allowed the growth of the private entrepreneurial space... The impact investing space also saw few key players like Incube, Charioteer and Unitus Seed Fund partaking substantial investments, thereby further signaling the availability of private capital for long-term sustainability goals.

In furtherance of the above, the Centre is organizing a talk that would be taken by Mr. Meyya Nagappan, a NALSAR alumnus, on 23rd March, Today - Saturday, at 11:30 am. His talk will comprise of the laws, structuring and other aspects involved in this practice area. The talk would be useful for individuals who seek both 1) Technical Competency in the subject 2) A general idea about the practice area, and the prospects involved.

The Centre shall be sending an e-mail right now, with all the details of the talk. Please do turn up for the talk tomorrow.

Regards,
Rahul

Dear all,

From my limited experience of almost 5 years in this university, I have observed that students here (including myself) lack guidance with regards to different career avenues available to us.

First, it not uncommon for students to religiously follow the limited curriculum in the hope that it will improve their career prospects. While performing well academically does serve to improve one's job prospects (especially in certain corporate law firms), it does little to improve one's prospects in niche practice areas, where technical competence in such subjects (in my view) is a more pressing criterion to enter such practice areas.

Second, the general course structure and curriculum at NALSAR is not comprehensive enough to expose students to different practice areas and niche subject matters. Third, where firms would previously recruit prospective candidates in their fifth year, presumably after giving them some time to decide their subject matter preferences, firms have now begun to recruit students in as early as the 3rd and 4th years, resulting in students not having enough time to decide their career path before committing themselves to a job.

The above highlight the most pressing reasons as to why some of us founded the Centre for Corporate and Tax Law. One of the aims of the Centre is to expose students to subjects and practice areas within commercial law which they would not otherwise be ordinarily exposed to (for instance, subjects other than the usual trio of General Corp, Private Equity and Mergers and Acquisitions – not that these 3 subjects are not important). For this reason, we have, within a span of two semesters organized courses and talks on topics as diverse as Corporate Governance, International Taxation, White Collar Crime and Director's Duties. We would also be organizing a course on Contract Drafting, Damages and Specific Relief Act at the end of this month.

However, the purpose of this mail is not to talk about what the Centre has achieved (since there is still much to be done), but to apprise you guys of a new and upcoming practice area known as 'Impact Investing'. Impact investing basically refers to employing funds and making investments in enterprises which attempt to solve socio-economic challenges using private capital, and the market economy. Impact investing allows entrepreneurs to build lasting enterprises that solve the unfulfilled social demands of the population, such as primary education, health, housing and so on. As an NDA article notes:

India is considered a breeding ground for (social) impact investing due to the enormous size of its demography and the unfulfilled demands for social and economic services. The reduced public investment in priority sectors like primary education, health, housing, water and sanitation etc. has allowed the growth of the private entrepreneurial space...The impact investing space also saw few key players like Incube, Charioteer and Unitus Seed Fund partaking substantial investments, thereby further signaling the availability of private capital for long-term sustainability goals.

In furtherance of the above, the Centre is organizing a talk that would be taken by Mr. Meyya Nagappan, a NALSAR alumnus, on 23rd March, Today - Saturday, at 11:30 am. His talk will comprise of the laws, structuring and other aspects involved in this practice area. The talk would be useful for individuals who seek both 1) Technical Competency in the subject 2) A general idea about the practice area, and the prospects involved.

The Centre shall be sending an e-mail right now, with all the details of the talk. Please do turn up for the talk tomorrow.

Regards,
Rahul

Dear all,

Veritas Legal will be visiting NALSAR on July 18 (Thursday) and will be conducting an internship and recruitment talk from 12:40 PM onwards at Jhunjhunwala conference hall.

By way of introduction, Veritas Legal is a Mumbai based boutique business law firm established in 2015 and has been able to carve a niche for itself in its short stint. The firm has expressed interest in offering assessment internships to 4th and 5th-year students at the end of which the firm, based on feedbacks, intends to make pre-placement offers. Moreover, the firm is also interested in interacting with the junior batches so as to gauge their interests and expectations.

Hence, We urge you to attend the talk in large numbers in order to capitalize on this opportunity, especially when we have been able to establish a successful relationship with the firm for the very first time. Domino's Pizza will be served to people who attend the talk.

We look forward to a healthy turnout.

- 3) Election Law - Alok Prasanna, Vidhi Bangalore.

Dear all,

We are glad to inform you that NALSAR Society of International Law is organizing the first webinar for the new academic year by Ms. Vanya Kumar on the topic 'Career Opportunities in International Law' on 16th August 2020 (Sunday) at 4:00 P.M. Ms. Kumar works as a Legal Officer at the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) - the intergovernmental organization tasked with overseeing the implementation of the Chemical Weapons Convention, and holds an LLM from the University of Cambridge. Before joining the OPCW, she also had a brief stint at the International Criminal Court (ICC).

Over the last one year, we have come to the realization that not many of us are aware of the career opportunities in interest law or how to go about pursuing them, and believe that this session will help clarify at least some of it. The webinar will be Q&A centric and would span roughly an hour.

Please let us know here the questions you would like us to ask her. We will send the invitation to the meeting sometime soon.

Hoping for a large turnout.

Dear Sir/Madam,

Greetings from Department of Management Studies (DoMS), NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad!!!

We are starting our placement activities of the MBA Batches and would like to invite you and your team for campus recruitment for both Summer Internships (May and June) and final placements (virtual at present).

You may kindly see the details and let me know for further process.

About NALSAR

NALSAR University of Law has been at the forefront of imparting high-quality management education and has been rated the best destination for legal education in the country. State of the art infrastructure, dedicated and qualified staff, a highly conducive environment for the teaching-learning process, and a lush green campus are the hallmarks of this professionally managed institution. It integrated Management education in the year 2013.

Department of Management Studies (DoMS), NALSAR University of Law, offers full-time residential MBA programs with unique specializations like Corporate Governance, Start-up Management, Innovation & Sustainability Management, Court Management along with Marketing, Finance, and Human Resources Management. Selected through a rigorous selection process involving scoring well in National Selection Tests like CAT, appearing in Group Discussion, clearing the Personal Interview, our students are definitely a cut above the rest.

The nature of education at DoMS is both in-class and out-of-class. With announced and unannounced continuous evaluation, our students are taken through a structured program of Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity & Ambiguity; the realities of today's business world. Simulations of real-time business problems are undertaken through case studies and live projects. We understand that practical exposure is necessary to fortify learning and therefore we signed an MoU with T-Hub to give our students the flavor of working with start-ups. We also understand that today is not about just an informed set of individuals rather investing in developing individuals with character, commitment, conviction, and courage.

Our faculty is a judicious mix of leaders and learners. The selection process is rigorous and has enabled us to claim some of the best minds in academia to impart education and foster learning. Through this process, we have engaged individuals from premier national and international B- Schools, like IIM Calcutta, IIM Trichy, University of Texas, Edward School of Business, University of Saskatchewan, Maastricht School of Business, Maastricht University, and the XIMB. Together these individuals bring in up-to-date concepts and paradigms to the classroom, for discussion, deliberation, and debate.

We, being a start-up B-School, with seven batches engaged in the industry, our alumni are beginning to make their mark in the industry. Our alumni occupy very good positions in some of the best-known enterprises in India like ICICI Securities, Dell, BYJU's, SES Governance, Deloitte, Cognizant, Kotak Mahindra Bank, ITC, Karvy, etc.

Dear all,

The NALSAR Public Policy Group is pleased to invite you to a panel discussion on and around the LAMP Fellowship, in the first week of April, 2021. We'll be hosting Mr Aayush Mallik and Ms Anna Liz Thomas (NALSAR '18), who have both been LAMP Fellows in the past. The panel would broadly capture the strategies and the speakers' experience during the application process, their time being a Fellow, and the career prospects that emerge from the prestigious Fellowship.

To steer the discussion better and make it more useful to the student body, you are encouraged to make use of this form to submit any questions or clarifications that you would like the speakers to address during the panel discussion. This will ensure that they structure their material better. The speakers have insisted on the questions being put forward beforehand, so that each topic of note receives adequate attention.

About the LAMP Fellowship: The Legislative Assistants to Members of Parliament (LAMP) Fellowship is a unique and an exciting opportunity for young Indians to learn law-making and public policy. LAMP Fellows are mentored by a Member of Parliament (MP) and work full-time with the assigned MP during a given year, starting from the Monsoon session of Parliament till the end of the Budget session. The primary role of a LAMP Fellow is to provide extensive research support to her/his MP for their parliamentary work. This includes drafting parliamentary questions for the MP, preparing the MP's speeches for zero hour debates, raising matters of public importance, drafting private members' bills etc. When Parliament is not in session, LAMP Fellows engage with policy makers, experts from various think-tanks, academicians from several leading universities, and leaders from diverse public policy institutions through participation in workshops on important policy and development issues. LAMP Fellows also participate in field visits during the inter-session period for a practical exposure to governance at the ground level.

You may read more about the Fellowship here.

The date and time for the panel will be announced soon. Please submit all your questions by 11:59 PM, using the form linked to above.

Thank you,
Utkarsh Mani Tripathi,
On behalf of the NALSAR Public Policy Group
