THE MENSTRUAL LEAVE POLICY, 2023

MENSTRUAL LEAVE POLICY GROUP NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad

(A student-led initiative)

to provide menstrual leave for menstruating students and certain facilities to menstruating individuals at the university and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

1. Short title, extent and commencement:

1. This Policy may be called the Menstrual Leave Policy, 2023.
2. It shall come into force on such date, the University Administration adopt it by notification through the official website of NALSAR.
3. It applies to every student identifying as a menstruating individual and those on the rolls in the B.A., LL.B., LL.M., I.P.M and M.B.A. Programs of the University.

2. Statement of Purpose:

Menstrual cramps and dysmenorrhea, which includes lower abdominal pain, constipation, and diarrhea affect almost 50% of the campus population, according to the student body surveys conducted by the Menstrual Leave Policy Group ("MLPG").

Period pain is said to be, in common parlance, to be "as bad as having a heart attack". Students have also reported to have been experiencing active symptoms of menstrual disorders like the Polycystic Ovary Syndrome ("PCOS") or Polycystic Ovarian Disease ("PCOD"), which requires awareness, promoting a healthy lifestyle, and special accommodation in education. Menstruating students, professors, and workers are recognized as equal stakeholders in the functioning of NALSAR. Yet, it remains a taboo in India, including in the educational spaces. Menstruating individuals are expected to carry on their daily tasks without any amenities or accommodation for their reproductive health, with a high tolerance for the pain.

NALSAR University of Law, which is recognized as one of the first law universities to have gender neutral washrooms, gender neutral residence spaces, accessibility labs and infrastructure for Persons with Disabilities ("PWD"), a menstrual leave policy amounts to another step forward in this direction.

MLPG was formed with the purpose of primarily framing a menstrual leave policy for NALSAR University of Law, but also creating an aware and educated environment regarding menstruation. The MLPG is, thus, trying to promote period friendly spaces within the University. The MLPG also aims to ensure availability of targeted medical facilities for menstruation and sanitary napkin dispensers to be used by faculty, students, and staff members. The policy is targeted towards all menstruating individuals by creating a system resembling medical leaves which would allow the menstruators to cater to their reproductive health without jeopardizing their access to education.
